

DAILY ROCK

EA CANCELLED

ROCK BRAWL EXPECTED TO FILL IN

Due to a sudden outbreak of Galactorrhea in headlining band Mouse Head Pandemonium, Electric Aquarium is calling on 80's band Rock Brawl to fill in. Rock Brawl has not played in over 10 years. The band, consisting of singer Russell N Bustle, guitarist Olin D Riff, and drummer Keith Europa, was not available for comment.

Rock Brawl famously broke up 10 years ago after a fight in an LA night club involving rival bands, security guards, and even a few fans. Sources, who wish to remain anonymous, suggest that Rock Brawl only signed on as a back up to collect the fee, and had no intention of playing. However, the contract is clear and Rock Brawl must be in New York next week and ready to play a gig in front of 100,000.

Old fans are snapping up tickets for Rock Brawl's first gig in ten years, famous for their song "loved you twice, shame on me"... Cont. on E5

ROCK BRAWL: A HISTORY

FROM HUMBLE BEGINNINGS TO CATASTROPHIC ENDS

ROCK BRAWL CIRCA 1985